On January 18, 1955, St. Amadeus parish, Alburg, Vermont, was proud to claim its first native priest. His name was Wendell H. Searles.

Years before, while traveling the parish rounds with his pastor, Father Searles learned of human nature—and French. As valedictorian of his class and an active member of the C.Y.O., he learned organization. While leaping for rebound, or lying exhausted, panting, on the cool floor of Alburg High's locker room at half-time, he discovered the value of team spirit and co-operation. During his summers as a counselor at Holy Cross, he developed understanding of youth and discovered a hidden talent for working with them.

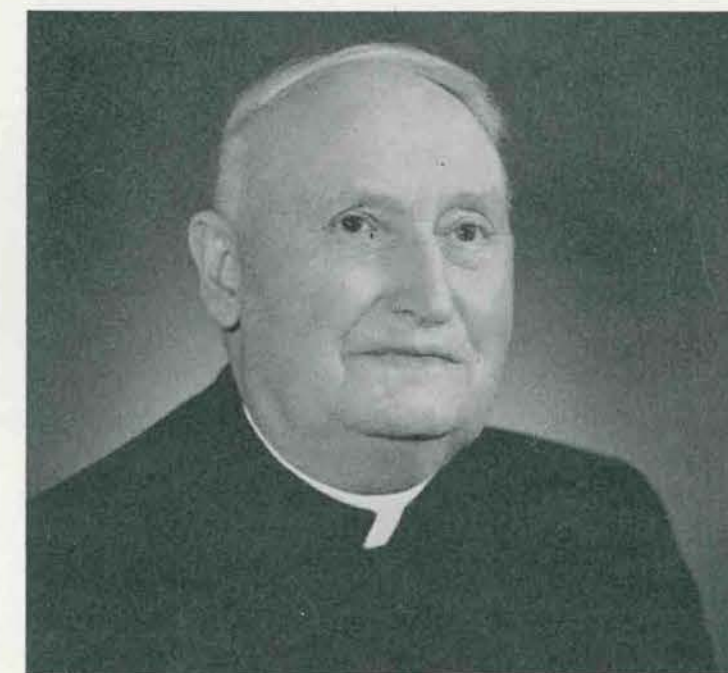

Since he has come to the Mount, this true Yankee of Vermont has given of himself to the school. He is characterized by his love for Mt. St. Joseph, and we, the Senior Class, wish to acknowledge this. We feel that Father Searles is a symbol of everything the Mount stands for; in the four years of our schooling here, he has shown us what true values are, and, by his example, how to attain them. For these reasons, we are proud to dedicate the 1964 Mount to Father Wendell H. Searles, our devoted and respected principal.

To the Class of 1964:

It is a real pleasure for me to extend congratulations and best wishes to another graduating class. There will always be special memories of the class of 1964 because I feel very much a part of your class. We started at M.S.J. together in 1960—together we were green and bewildered.

Now our eyes are on the future. Our concern for your spiritual and scholastic development over the past four years has been sincere, genuine, and prayerful. Now as you join the ranks of Academy Alumni we hope and we pray that always and in all things you will think, judge, and act according to the mind of Christ.

Sincerely,
 Father Searles

My first year at Mount Saint Joseph has been an enjoyable and fruitful experience. I have been deeply impressed with the dedication of the faculty and the responsibility shown by the students to their Christian vocation of student. This spirit has created the atmosphere of Christian living which I found so active and sincere in the life of the school.

You Seniors have contributed a very important part to this spirit. May this same attitude and spirit go with you as you leave the Mount to pursue your respective goals. May a vital and mature Christian Commitment be the goal which will permeate every action and decision in your adult life.

As usual, Mark tries to keep order during a lively discussion at one of the bi-weekly N.A.S.C. meetings.

Algy and Lucille discuss plans for a coming meeting with Sister M. Martin.

Student Council members prepare Christmas baskets for needy families.

Algy is filled with the patriotic spirit of our forefathers after returning from Virginia, where he was our delegate to the House of Burgesses.

At the executive meeting, officers discuss plans for future activities.

National Honor Society

First row: M. Belfore, S. Chioffi, C. Caliguiri, L. Guinness, M. Denardo, M. A. Welch, S. Moore, P. Garafano; Second row: J. Stearns, T. Candon, J. Burke, R. Caggige, T. Sheehan, M. McDonough, J. Molly and her committee prepare Share gifts for Brandon Training School.

The Josephite Chapter of the National Honor Society had a busy and productive year, beginning in September with the election of officers and a discussion of the coming year's work.

In November, five members were inducted in a private ceremony at the monthly meeting. Later that month, the N.H.S. offered its services to the Sisters for the Pre-Christmas Festival.

December was a busy month for the club with the wrapping of "Share" gifts and the annual Alumni Supper for its former members.

The preparation and presentation of the February Induction was the next activity. The group also worked as hosts for the visiting schools during the State One-Act play contest.

The year ended with the annual "Academy Awards Night" on May 29.

"I pledge myself to uphold . . ."

New N.H.S. members inducted in February were: Annetta Walsh, Elwyn Layden, Patricia Pockette, Esterinia Valleroli, Ralph Musella, Carolyn Senecal.

Teachers

F.T.A. Officers: Sandra Chioffi, president; Theresa Fish, treasurer; Sally Wall, vice-president; Cheryl Caliguiri, secretary.

Maryalice Haugh, historian, Eileen McCue, parliamentarian; Maris Clarino, song leader.

Last Fall, the F.T.A. got off to a good start by inducting several students into the club. This was immediately followed by the selling of victory jackets to the student body. On Nov. 11, thanks to the F.T.A., the M.S.J. side of the field was a blur of green and white.

In connection with American Education Week, members put a display on the main bulletin board and the annual Faculty Tea was held.

Many club members attended the State convention held, this year, at Woodstock.

In the true spirit of Christmas, the F.T.A. held a Christmas party for some of the area children.

During the school year, the club sponsored many activities. Perhaps the most popular was the movie, "War and Peace," which was enjoyed by teachers and students alike. Many girls either helped teachers or tutored one of their classmates. At meetings throughout the year, various guest speakers discussed different aspects of the teaching profession.

In June, scholarships were awarded to deserving seniors from the money raised by the year's projects.

First row: A. Pellegrino, D. Hebert, C. Mick, M. Dupre, S. Abatiell, M. DiCesare, A. Caliguiri, Y. Ciccotelli; Second row: K. Short, M. Pitaniello, P. Graziano, C. Wall, C. Healy, K. Pellegrino, J. F.N.C. Officers: Seated: J. Fucci, president; Mary Jean Fox, treasurer; Anne McKinnon, vice-president; Nancy Mangieri, secretary.

Senior F.N.C. members work busily at preparing candy for distribution. This annual project enables the F.N.C. to give scholarships to worthy senior members.

The Future Nurses' Club has participated in various activities during the past school year.

Members of the club have assisted the aged at the Loretto Home.

A section of the library has been set up containing catalogues of various schools of nursing and other branches of the medical field.

This year the club has started

The members of the Public Speaking Organization were grouped this year in three divisions—the advanced, the beginners and the debaters. Three members prepared speeches for the American Legion Oratorical contest, which was won by David Ponto. During the winter months, the students took part in several meets with near by high-schools and represented Mt. St. Joseph at the U.V.M. Speech Festival in April. The final forensic event of the year was the Intramural Contest in May.

Retreat

Daily Mass was one of the important events of the retreat.

During the Retreat Father Edward P. Conlin gave the student body many things to think about. He recalled to our minds the fact that it was our sins, not the Jews, who crucified our Lord. Seniors, especially, heeded Father's words concerning the ways in which to better their lives since they will be going out sooner than the underclassmen to face more serious temptations.

LETTER
EDITORS

We'd like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who has co-operated with us in the production of the 1964 MOUNT. Any success which this yearbook enjoys is due to people like Father Searles, who so willingly lent us his car, and Mr. Norm Porter, without whose help we could not have completed it. Our faculty advisors, Sister Miriam Teresa and Sister John Paul, guided us with concern and patience. We'd also like to extend our gratitude to another faculty member Mr. Walter Moore for the many times he patiently endured the seemingly endless chatter from across the hall.

Thoughtfully, we recall the efforts of the Business and Editorial Boards and those of the wonderful and hard-working members of our Senior Class. The time and energy spent by Maryann Belfore and Jack Burke getting ads together at the last minute, will never be forgotten.

With every yearbook comes a substantial amount of typing. Many members of the Business Board, along with Sister John Joseph, were kind enough to give up their time to type. Most of all, we recall the last few days of the yearbook's production when Gracemary Keith, without complaint, stayed for hours to type the necessary pages.

Terri Fish, John Spencer, and Peggy Doucette were always willing to work when their assistance was needed. Our Art and Copy departments put up with our many corrections and we are grateful. The yearbook pages would be blank were it not for the pictures taken by our amateur photographers—Mark Treanor and Jimmy Pitaniello. Gayle Howard, Mickey Macfarlane, and Frank Short worked hard at compiling the sport's section of the yearbook.

Last but not least, we could never thank enough the moderators and members of various organizations, and the homeroom teachers and underclassmen. When they were forced to lose class time in order that pictures might be taken, they conducted themselves with the utmost quiet and co-operation.

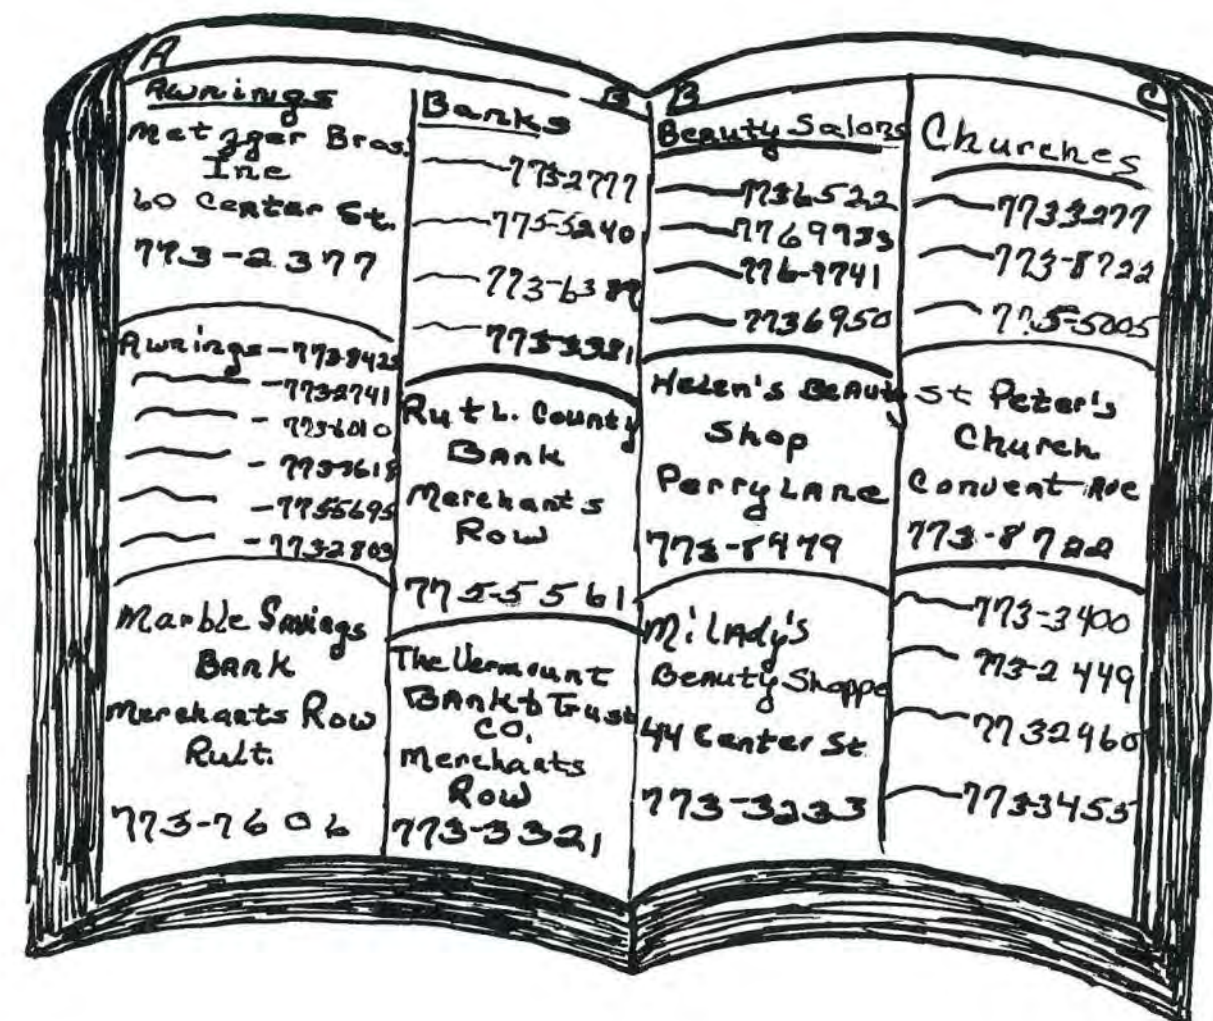

Please accept this grateful acknowledgement of your kind and thoughtful generosity.

May Our Lord reward you with his choicest blessings.

Sincerely,

Sherry Caliguiri, Editor-in-Chief
Patty Hogan, Assistant Editor
